I believe there is music in everything. Music that defines us, music that binds us, music that elevates us. And we spend the better part of our life looking for that tune saying “Who we are”.

My inspiration comes from Miles Davis and Jimi Hendrix, B.B. King and Eric Clapton, but also from George Orwell, Stieg Larsson, Yuval Noah Harari and Eugen Ionescu.

As a trainer and a musician I have spent the past 20 years helping people tune into themselves and find their voice, that role that plays on their uniqueness to fit naturally in their organization.
